

Erik Ringberg, MBA

Healthcare Distribution and
Diagnostics Executive – VP/GM Lab

McKesson

Erik Ringberg is the Vice President and General Manager of Lab for McKesson Medical-Surgical. He has P&L responsibility for McKesson's $2+ billion Laboratory business, including leadership of 160 sales and service team members. Erik is accountable for overall sales, profitability, and the strategy to drive McKesson's leadership position in lab. Prior to this role, he was the Vice President of Product Strategy & Supplier Partnerships (PSSP) for the Lab portfolio.

Erik has been with McKesson Medical-Surgical since 2009, when he joined as a Senior Category Manager in the Extended Care segment. Since then, he has held larger roles in the PSSP organization, including Senior Director of Primary Care Category Management. Prior to joining McKesson, Erik worked at General Electric in a variety of roles and businesses, from Six Sigma to marketing, and from Lighting to Long Term Care Insurance.

Erik is the recipient of the 2021 President's Award, recognizing his contributions in organizing and leading Medical-Surgical's response to the Covid-19 testing crisis; the team's efforts have enabled sales of over $4 billion of Covid tests.

Erik resides in Richmond with his wife Amy and children, Abby, Aaron, and Alec. Both Amy and Erik hold graduate degrees from Clemson University, so you'll often catch him sporting a tiger paw. He also has a wide variety of interests outside of work, from tennis to travel, from woodworking to cooking, and from 80's rock to current country music.
