

Greg Malter

District Manager

Expeditors

Greg Malter is an accomplished global logistics executive, with a proven track record of delivering flexible and innovative cold chain solutions to the pharmaceutical and biotech industry.

Over the last 23 years, Greg held positions in nearly every facet of the forwarding industry, with a heavy focus on leadership development, supply chain optimization, and regulatory compliance. He is passionate about creating a culture of excellence, collaboration, and continuous improvement in his team and organization.

As the District Manager for Expeditors International in Dallas-Fort Worth, he leads the freight forwarding, domestic trucking, customs brokerage, warehousing, fulfillment, and order management operations for the company in North Texas.

He holds a BA in International Business from Illinois Wesleyan University, is a licensed US Customs Broker, and a certified IATA-FIATA cargo agent.